

Water Quality

I have seen many people throwing trash in lakes and rivers, I just don't get why people do that. The animals in those places have a life that they've adapted to respect their water. They use water as a resource and whatever they do would do any harm, but to me, I still think rivers, streams, and creeks are beautiful things that we should protect. Because of this, many animals that live in rivers, streams, and creeks have been dying and causing us the beautiful earth.

Even though the water in nature is polluted so our lakes and creeks are harm our "beautiful things" rivers, streams, creeks, and streams are really beautiful, but if people don't take care of the water in nature is gray and brown, water can flow like eggs and dirt. Earth is supposed to be beautiful and naturally looking like gray and brown water, right? Water is not an intended garbage can, water is created to help us survive and live.

I believe that it is important to protect our lakes, rivers, streams, and creeks at all costs. I hope people understand and we all do help together to be the beautiful nature.
