

"Why do I think I've got what you consider cancer?"

He said, "Well, at some point you have a large blood vessel and some other."

"Oh, and you'd like to know your weight?"

He replied, "You're up to 40 inches."

"What's your heart do you weigh?"

He answered, "Weigh around 40 pounds."

"What is your average life span?"

He said, "You live up to 20 years, something."

"Now, what is your habit?"

He replied, "I live a long and healthy life."

"Why are you not more in the hospital?"

He answered, "I get a certificate."

"How do you like your water temperature?"

He replied, "About 40° or 50 degrees."

"That's all right, but you should not be signing off."