

My study skills: Written feedback

Question 1 of 4

Which of the following is NOT a good way to give feedback to a student?

1. Give feedback in a private setting, such as a meeting or a one-to-one session.

2. Give feedback in a public setting, such as a lecture or a seminar.

3. Give feedback in a timely manner, such as within 24 hours of the submission.

4. Give feedback in a constructive manner, such as focusing on the strengths of the work.

5. Give feedback in a supportive manner, such as offering suggestions for improvement.

6. Give feedback in a timely manner, such as within 24 hours of the submission.

7. Give feedback in a constructive manner, such as focusing on the strengths of the work.

8. Give feedback in a supportive manner, such as offering suggestions for improvement.